

Review 6D.

'Gaudi' is a small pizzeria situated in the downtown of my home-town, Vologda. Location is amazing: the restaurant is close to the two most popular areas of the city, which allows you to achieve maximum reach of visitors.

When you enter the place, you are welcomed by a magnificent setting: elegant stone walls, many light bulbs of different sizes, a huge selection of tables with different views from the windows, as well as pleasant staff.

Gaudi is an Italian restaurant, to be precise - Roman. Its key feature is Roman pizza, the shape of which is different from the usual Naples pizza. There are also many delicious pastes, desserts and drinks.

Prices in the restaurant will be quite unusual for typical residents of Vologda, but this is worth it, first of all we go to the restaurant not to eat, but for some new impressions. But if you belong to the first type, then for you there is an opportunity to order food home. The staff and waiters are very kind to you, help to choose a tasty dish and tell you more about it.

Despite the high price of the food, I had a pleasant dining experience with food of the most exquisite flavours. For this reason I highly recommend going to the 'Gaudi'.
